thewildcatuk:. Today I've been hosted on the LawyerFair daily podcast, run by the great Andrew Weaver. I've been ranting on the connections between Music and Law for about 10 minutes. If you make it to the end you can hear me saying the word "onanistic" with a notable Italian accent.

Lawyers are boring.

In conventional usage, boredom is an emotional and occasionally psychological state experienced when an individual is left without anything in particular to do, is not interested in his or her surroundings, or feels that a day or period is dull or tedious. It is also understood by scholars as a modern phenomenon which has a cultural dimension. "There is no universally accepted definition of ...

The Subjectivity of Experience. Every input to our senses is a stimulus, available for us to interpret as information, and from which we can derive further information. Our physical sensory receptors--our ears, eyes, etc.--can well be thought of as information "transducers" which convert external stimuli--changes in air pressure, light, etc.--into nerve impulses recognized by the brain.
