Mentorship is a relationship in which a more experienced or more knowledgeable person helps to guide a less experienced or less knowledgeable person. The mentor may be older or younger than the person being mentored, but he or she must have a certain area of expertise. It is a learning and development partnership between someone with vast experience and someone who wants to learn.

A branch cut is a curve (with ends possibly open, closed, or half-open) in the complex plane across which an analytic multivalued function is discontinuous. For convenience, branch cuts are often taken as lines or line segments. Branch cuts (even those consisting of curves) are also known as cut lines (Arfken 1985, p. 397), slits (Kahan 1987), or branch lines.

Using a DataView. The final common technique used to work with a DataSet is to display its data using a DataView. Simply put, a DataView object is a view of a particular DataTable within a DataSet that can expose the data in a particular sort order or can filter the data. In other words, you can use a DataView to create a filtered and sorted view of a DataTable and then bind that view to a ...

I'm looking at a "classic" process maturity assessment done by a consulting firm for a client, and what a useless document it is. I'm not saying who sent it to me or why or where from. That isn't important here because so many assessments are similar. Compare yours. The report analyses 8 practices. It doesn't say why those eight.
