Determinant. Determinants are mathematical objects that are very useful in the analysis and solution of systems of linear equations.As shown by Cramer's rule, a nonhomogeneous system of linear equations has a unique solution iff the determinant of the system's matrix is nonzero (i.e., the matrix is nonsingular). For example, eliminating , , and from the equations

In mathematics, a conformal map is a function that preserves orientation and angles locally. In the most common case, the function has a domain and an image in the complex plane.. More formally, let and be open subsets of .A function : → is called conformal (or angle-preserving) at a point ∈ if it preserves angles between directed curves through , as well as preserving orientation (i.e ...

The rule of Sarrus is a mnemonic for the 3×3 matrix determinant: the sum of the products of three diagonal north-west to south-east lines of matrix elements, minus the sum of the products of three diagonal south-west to north-east lines of elements, when the copies of the first two columns of the matrix are written beside it as in the illustration.
